Recreation department won't be able to maintain new building

Thank you to the ladies who brought up the [Westland] park and recreation department's failure to maintain Corrado Park. With its small staff and operational budget, the department has failed to maintain any of its parks and buildings, including the Bailey Recreation Center.

So how will the city be able to maintain the proposed multimillion-dollar recreation center?

Primary elections play into the hand of special interest groups

It wouldn't be necessary to propose a Supermajority requirement for countywide taxes and tax increases to be proposed and enacted if tax proposals were not put on primary ballots, when many people don't vote.

If tax increases were voted on in November elections, when most people vote, then tax increases would receive more consideration than they do now.

The practice of placing millage elections and increases on primary or special election ballots plays into the hands of special interest groups able to deliver their voters and able to afford misleading political advertising. Special interest groups, especially public sector factions, are too fond of voting themselves money to be trusted in primary elections.

Dinosaur visit

Romulus youngsters were treated to a visit by two dinosaurs recently, shortly after a heavy storm rocked city residents. The dinosaur hunters, who became dinosaurs themselves were -- Dr. Smudge (kneeling) and his helper, Helga, fresh from Chicago. More than 70 youth and adults followed the dinosaurs' emergency tracks from the darkened library to the Romulus City Council chambers that day. MCN Special Photo

Rarey to council: cancel utility pact resolution

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

City watchdog Jim Rarey warned the Romulus City Council Monday night that it should rescind its favorable resolution on the South Huron Valley Utility Authority or face future financial woes.

Rarey, who attends and speaks out at most Romulus City Council meetings, claimed the contract the city would enter into with the utility authority is filled with loopholes and is entirely too ambiguous. It could leave the city facing unexpected expenses in the coming years," Rarey warned.

While no city council member spoke out officially at the council meeting, Mayor William Oakley later asked Rarey to give him a copy of his notes on the issue. Rarey was hoping to also get a meeting with Oakley and the city's corporate attorney Stephen Hitchcock to discuss the possible pitfalls to the city.

Jim Rarey

Rarey said he also spoke on the phone the night before the council meeting with Councilman LeRoy Burcroff to explain some of his concerns on the earlier council action.

Rarey prefaced his rescinding request with a little personal history, stating some in the city view him as "a Don Quixote-type with a broken lance tilting at windmills."

But the retired accountant said he has spent years professionally counseling corporate officers on federal regulations and contracts.

Locally Rarey said he also cautioned the city several years back about a $20 million Tax Increment Finance Authority measure that later was renegotiated by Oakley.. "at a great savings to the city."

Since the authority needs 100 percent support from its members on this contract, Rarey urged that the council rescind its July 27 resolution until it further studies the issues.

The other seven municipalities involved in the authority include the cities of Flat Rock, Gibraltar and Woodhaven as well as Brownstown, Huron and Van Buren Townships and the Village of S. Rockwood.

The council has two more meetings prior to the utility contract going into effect.

Ferrara leaving bench

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Embattled Wayne County Court Judge Andrea Ferrara -- who faced a state Judicial Tenure Commission hearing in the Romulus based 34th District Court late last year -- was stripped of her $109,000 a year post July 28 by the Michigan Supreme Court.

Ferrara faced serious charges by the commission after her husband, Howard Tarjeft, released audio tapes alleged to contain Ferrara's voice making discriminatory statements about African Americans, Jews and Arab Americans.

Through most of her hearing, Ferrara refused to admit the voice was her's. But toward the end of the lengthy case against her the suspended judge finally stated "that sounds like my voice."

The phone conversations between Ferrara and her former husband were mostly based on issues surrounding their children, but spun off on some side issues that led to Ferrara's ethnic statements.

The tenure commission earlier this year urged the state's top court to strip her of her job and the court thus ruled.

On Tuesday the top court thus also stripped her of her salary, which she has been collecting since she was suspended last year.

Allan Sobel, executive director of the tenure commission, has revealed that Ferrara collected about $210,000 in salary and benefits during the 17 months of her suspension.

It also was reported that

Ferrara is 29 months short of vesting -- or collecting a pension.

Upon hearing of his ex-wife's job termination, Tarjeft issued a statement blasting the fact that she collected taxpayers' money since being suspended.

Basham scores primary victory

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Rookie 22nd District State Representative Raymond Basham (D-Taylor), who all but ignored his novice primary challenger Donald Masse in recent months, won a convincing victory Tuesday in a light turnout.

The vote Tuesday 3,335 for Basham to Masse's 728.

Basham now will run against Republican Susan Lee Chmielewski (R-Taylor) in November.

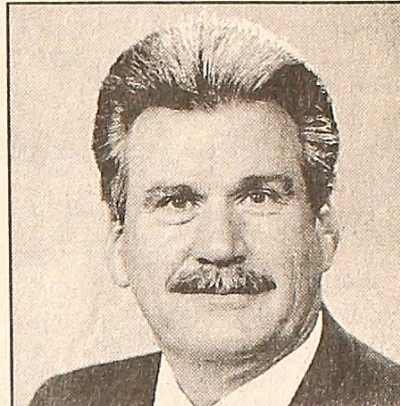

Masse, who serves as a teacher in the Wayne-Westland School District, tried to stir up some political action by decrying the fact that Basham would not debate him.

But Masse's limited political funds hurt his chance to get his message out to the public in Taylor and Romulus.

Also Masse's claim that he is a better orator than Basham never got a chance to be shown -- since the pair never appeared at the same major functions.

Masse, 56, shortly after filing as a candidate said he decided to challenge the first term representative (who actually is completing a term started by former State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak), because he felt no candidate should run unopposed.

Pitoniak now serves as Taylor's mayor.

Raymond Basham

One of Masse's charges fell flat with Romulus officials, when he claimed that he stated that Basham under represents Romulus.

Masse appeared at several Romulus City Council meetings in the midst of the campaign, while Basham was absent.

Basham -- a long term Taylor public official (city councilman etc) -- has strong union support. Masse expressed disappointment that even the Michigan Education Association -- a key teachers' union -- endorsed his opponent, despite the fact that he (Masse) is a veteran teacher of more than 32 years.

Masse was encouraged though when he won the political endorsement of the Detroit News.

Romulus Boys/Girls Club will select director soon

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Plans now call for the new Romulus Boys/Girls Club organization to hire its first director next month.

According to Len Krichko, executive director of the Boys/Girls Club of Southeastern Michigan, the new position will be posted within the organization and a selection of two or three candidates will be then interviewed.

After the director's selection, a 1998-99 budget will be finalized and development plans will be completed.

In October the newly named director will meet with school staff members, community groups and community leaders.

In November a club management recruitment campaign will begin as the club needs 100 confirmed members before it opens for the first time.

The target date for ribbon-cutting ceremonies is slated for Dec. 15, but that date could move forward if various options are effected sooner than expected.

Temporarily the club will be operated out of Merriman Elementary school after each school day and almost all day Saturday.

At a management council session last week, it also was revealed that a new mission statement has been set for the combined club. The statement says "The Boys and Girls Clubs of Southeastern Michigan is a youth development organization providing a positive environment that enables its members to become responsible, self reliant, caring adults."

Eight other boys/girls club are members of the combined club and boast a total of more than 7,000 boy and girl members with a average daily attendance of 1,276 youth.

Individual club memberships range from 446 to 1,776.

Racial breakdowns show that the total figures reveal 6,929 are African Americans; 3,391 are white, 313 are Hispanic, 310 are multi-racial, 23 are Arabic/Chaldean, 32 are Asian and 22 are Native American.

Six of the current eight clubs (Romulus will be the ninth) bear the names of benefactors such as Vic and Lucille Wertz Club and the Edgar A. Guest Club.

The opportunity for the Romulus club to bear a benefactor's name also is being explored.

The only two clubs not to bear personal names are the Auburn Hills Club and the Highland Park Club.

City pool meeting slated tonight

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The two governing bodies have been meeting in recent months to air the possibility of creating the city's first municipal pool and the erection of a new and expanded city recreation department.

Currently the issue being

7:30 tonight at Romulus City Hall.

The meeting is slated for either this November or next spring. The school district feels it can help support the pool's creation, but hopes the city can pick up the expensive day to day operation of the pool.

Currently Romulus senior citizens and youth travel to the Wayne Recreation Building to swim.

'Camp with a Cop' a big hit with local youths

By DON RICHTER
MCN Special Writer

The second annual "Camp with a Cop" program hosted by the Van Buren Public Safety Department has grown leaps and bounds since last year's inaugural event.

"Last year we had around 50 kids or so," said Pam Fleming, one of the organizers of the program. "This year we have 132 kids participating all from the surrounding communities."

"Camp with a Cop" is designed to be a fun-filled weekend for everyone as well as an opportunity for the police officers to interact with the boys and girls at no cost to the parent.

"It gives the kids a lot of communication with the officers," said Fleming. "The officers get to know the kids and become more of a friend to them, than an enemy."

The project was the brainchild of Officer Bart Devos who thought that it would be nice to do something for the youth in the area.

The program is for kids 9-14 years of age who live in Belleville, Van Buren Township and Sumpter Township.

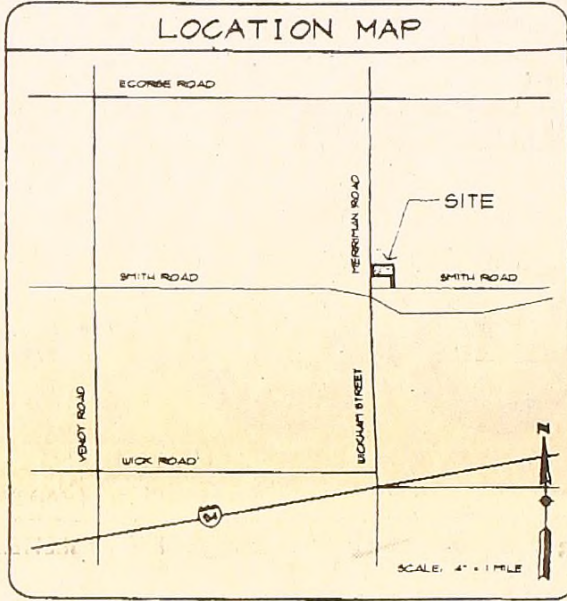

This year's camp will be run from August 14-16 and is funded by grants from Eastern Michigan University.

The camp will be held in Van Buren Park which is located on the I-94 South Service Drive.

There are 81 boys and 51 girls signed up for this year's camp. Six large military-type tents will be set up each housing 30-35 youths. 20 officers from all three community departments will be supervising the event.

Glitzy new Windsor casino puts old one to shame

An invitation to see the new, glitzy Casino Windsor, was an invitation I was not about to pass up. A recreational gambler, nonetheless one that has seen every casino in Las Vegas, I was anxious to see how our Canadian neighbors would stack up against the MGM's, Caesars and Mirage's of the wild west.

And then, too, word was Jay Leno, and a host of other major stars were to be a part of the festivities. Leno did not show, but stargazers did get an opportunity to see Regis Philbin and Daisy Fuentes.

I must say, at night's end, I was favorably impressed with the $560 million (Canadian) complex. Set on 12-acres of prime Windsor riverfront real estate, the casino is nothing like the stark, dirty temporary casino that was closed down the road a couple of days before the new one opened.

Entering the 23-story hotel, and 3-story casino one is immediately impressed with a water theme that carries throughout the complex. The atrium lobby unfolds with a tropical forest intermingled with a huge waterfall complete with mist and sound effects. This area got a lot of oohs and aahs from the assembled black tie crowd.

A staff of nearly 5,000 employees cares for the sprawling 2 million square foot complex. There are 389 rooms to rent, many with great views and priced from $175 to $200. The hotel also includes a huge ballroom, a health club and spa, and a 150-seat specialty restaurant.

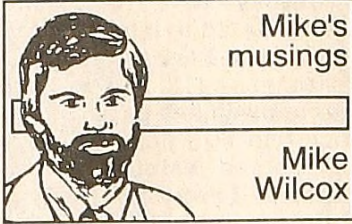

But the casino, is what's most impressive. With nearly 3,000 slot machines and 150 tables, the two-story, 100,000 square foot layout is impressive, even by Vegas standards. Big players, and the room was full of them on opening night, can play in privacy in the Canadian Club, a room where minimum bets start at $100.

Two peculiarities I found when gambling here versus in Las Vegas was that craps were not played and many blackjack tables had maximum bets. In talking to Dave, a casino host in the Canadian Club, he contended that craps had been outlawed in Canada for a long long time. As the story goes, a few hundred years ago many of the Queen's soldiers were spending their week's earnings at crap games, thus an edict came down from her highness outlawing that form of gambling. Many of the tables had maximum bets of $200. This puts a cap on the amount of money a player can win and thus ensures the house more winnings.

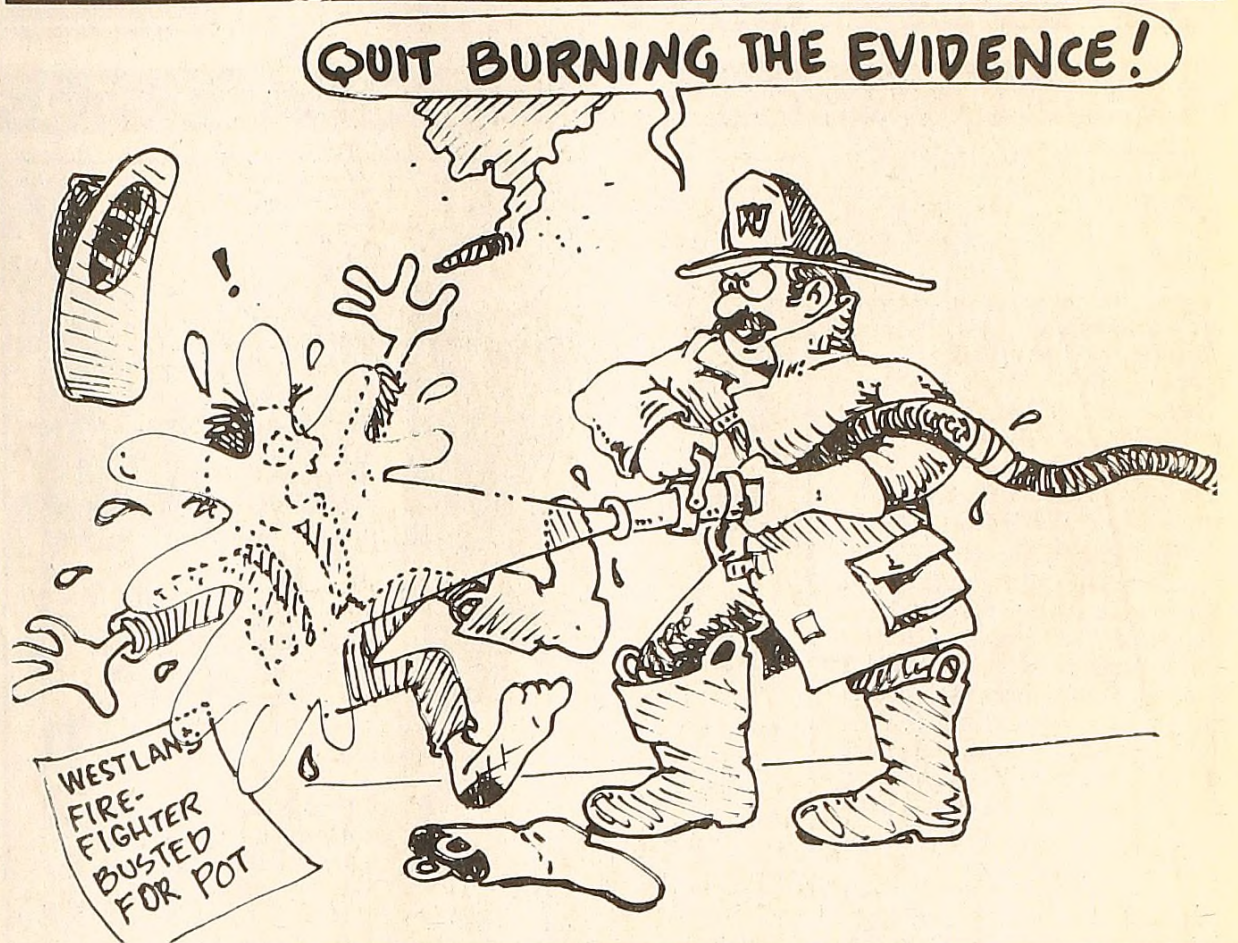

Not that the house needs to win more. Estimates peg 90% of the gamblers in Windsor come across the border from Detroit. That's 7 million players a year dumping nearly $700 million (Canadian) into our neighbor's coffers.

Opening night alone had to be a huge success profitability wise. Sitting at a blackjack table with black ties all around me, it seemed the privileged customers couldn't wait to lose in their new surroundings. A guy sitting to the left of me lost $5,000 in 15 minutes before walking away angrily. To the right, a high-roller dumped another $3,000 in 5 minutes. It was unbelievable how fast money was being lost. There I sat playing five dollars at a time, gaining a little here, and losing a little there. But I was clearly the exception.

Now you understand why Detroiters are clamoring to get their temporary casinos open.

In praise of Canton's library

It's come to this: about a month ago, WJR talk show host David Newman interviewed a college professor who was fired for teaching Shakespeare's plays in a drama class.

Though the teacher was only teaching the subject that he was hired to teach, Shakespeare is too politically incorrect for academics who loath western culture and its icons.

Despite Shakespeare's continued popularity as author of Kenneth Branagh's film of Henry V, or Mel Gibson's Hamlet, he's routinely trashed on campus.

Raddish profs point to his barbarity. As bad as any Hollywood slasher flick, The Tragedy of Titus Andronicus features nine murders, a human sacrifice, four executions, two rapes, and four amputations.

Feminists point to his Howard Stern-like dissing of women. "I am meat for your master," says Doll, a character in Henry IV.

Civil rights advocates point to his Jim Crow streak. In his plays blackness is usually a "foul blot." Some academics have made a career of picking him apart the same way that they pick apart anything good in western civilization.

Never mind that Shakespeare's masterpieces or western civilization's accomplishments, such as democracy, space travel, or polio vaccinations, we all know numerous horror stories about our traditions being trashed by academics.

In my mind, the worst example was the original program for the Enola Gay exhibit at the Smithsonian Museum. In it trendy academics almost succeeded in portraying the United States as the aggressor in World War II. Fortunately, outraged veterans groups threatened the museum's funding sources, and the anti-American rhetoric was substantially toned down.

I thought that those veterans were needed in the Plymouth-Canton school district when high school Librarian Sheri Frasier drafted a student Internet policy that banned online insults.

"This would prevent Shakespeare from being presented online," I protested to former Board President Mark Horvath, explaining that Shakespeare's dialogue was 50 percent inventive invective, about the same as a Fox TV comedy. His characters were called names like "mad mustachio purple-hued maltworms," "thou stool for a witch," and "idol of idiot worshippers."

Caught up in their diversity mode and not knowledgeable in literature, the board approved Frasier's policy, effectively banning half of the Bard's words from the schools' computers.

This was sacrilege to someone of my generation who had to memorize passages from Shakespeare in school as a model of wit and wordsmanship, and a generation that grew up on the "Bill of Rights."

But a recent trip to the Canton library restored my faith in human nature. There I saw several young students using the Internet, most of them connected to Yahoo chat lines.

Free of the school district's Internet policy, the kids were free to flex their mind muscles. Most showed off their knowledge of Simpsons trivia or South Park characters. But a few flaunted their mastery of western cultural trivia.

My heart especially warmed to one middle school age girl who I spotted peppering her messages with quotes from a crackling reference book, Shakespeare's Insults, Educate Your Wit, by Wayne Hill and Cynthia Otchen.

I don't know if these spunky kids exercising their free speech rights are the future or the past. But I feel optimist that western culture will survive as long as there are places like the Canton Public Library.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

Accused Of Being a "Miss Doe" By Any Other Name

Dear Mr. Ross: My wife and I have been through tough times, but we finally got back on track. Six years ago we had separated because she started seeing another man. We already had 2 kids and shortly thereafter, she became pregnant. For the next 2 years I really believed the daughter she gave birth to was not mine. Things soured in her relationship with this other man and she begged me to get back together. When I learned that the baby girl was really mine (paternity test), I made the commitment to try again.

It's now 4 years later and it's like that horrible turmoil never happened. Except for one thing. My wife listed our daughter's last name as the man's last name she was seeing. Our daughter starts school this year and I want all of us to have the same last name. It will take at least $400 to set the records straight. We're strapped, even though we have 2 incomes. I don't fault you if you don't help us—we've kind of made a mess of things. All I know is I love my wife and kids and want the opportunity to be a full family—last names and all.

Mr. R. L. ... Star Watch, Spartanburg, SC

Dear Mr. L.: I'm going to grant your request because I feel it's necessary to preserve the innocence of youth. Frankly, you and your wife are adults, capable of making poor choices and you should have to live with the consequences. But I have a soft spot for children. Life is hard enough for them. For the sake of your daughter and other two children, my $400 is on the way.

Dear Mr. Ross: My life is full of joy and I am blessed. I have two beautiful teenagers and a faithful husband. We live on an average middle class income. I'm writing you for my husband's sake. He is one of the most selfless men I have ever known. There is nothing he wouldn't do for his family. That is why at the age of 50 he is still working 70 hours a week.

It has been almost 7 years since he had a new suit for church. He would never ask for one himself because our daughter is graduating from high school this year. I do not have the means to do this without a miracle from some source. Will you help me buy him a suit?

Mrs. S. B. ... News Free Press, Chattanooga, TN

Dear Mrs. B.: I would never put my well intended deeds in a sentence with the word "miracle." You can call what I do a modest gift or token gesture, but reserve miracles to the work of the Good Man Upstairs. Your non-miracle check to purchase your husband a new suit is on the way. And may the Lord continue to work through him to perform yet another miracle in life.

Dear Mr. Ross: My wife and I are married 15 years now (smile). Last year she gave birth to twin boys, so for the last 20 months she has been out of work. The twins do not need sneakers, although Joseph (14), Johnathan (12), Justin (9) and mom and dad DO need sneakers—and hair cuts. The rule in our house is $39.95 limit on sneakers. If you could send us $231.75 for 5 pairs of sneakers and 4 hair cuts, we would be very grateful.

Mr. M. M. ... Daily News, New York, NY

Dear Mr. M.: Your request could read like a math word problem. If a family of 7 was looking to purchase 5 pairs of sneakers at $39.95 each and requested $231.75, so they could also get 4 hair cuts—how much would each hair cut cost? Bing-bing-bing-bing! The correct answer is $8.25, but the answer you're looking for is the check is in the mail!

Reader fears his church doesn't measure up

To the editor:

The Catholic Church for me is the unspotted bride of Christ and my most cherished possession. There is a world wide apostasy in the Church today that has come to America last. Let us be the first to crush it.

There is a crying need in the Church today for priests but the need is for quality as well as quantity. We need priests that are so inspired by the Holy Spirit that they would invade the very bowels of hell to do the Lord's will. O Father in heaven send us such priests.

If they would only proclaim the truth, the word of the Almighty about all these satanic helpers in our society, our Church, and our government, they would have this inspired commitment to the Lord. With such a commitment they are obliged to defend the Faith even at the risk of persecution, martyrdom, or the loss of the tax exempt status of the Church. In our day I would say that the gates of hell are prevailing against the Church so I don't believe the end of the world is imminent. The festering boils on the Mystical Body of Jesus don't extend from the bottom up but from the top down.

Did the American bishops in the 1930's make an unholy covenant with these international banker depopulators that was a choice of moral bankruptcy over financial? Isn't this covenant still in effect today and flourishing? Isn't this the reason that Catholic publications of today have become a forum for apostates and

Veteran school cook retires after 41 years of service

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Forty two years ago Viola Willoughby was asked by a Romulus school cook if she should help out in the school kitchen area for a few days.

Willoughby accepted the offer and found the "few days" turned into more than four decades.

Shortly after her retirement and honors ceremony before the Romulus School Board, Willoughby said "I truly loved what I did...the people I worked with...and the students I cooked for. it was a long and wonderful ride."

She began her reign as cook when her children were enrolled in the Romulus schools. Then she even serviced her grandchildren in the schools.

Currently her great-grandchildren attend the Romulus schools and she has decided...it is time "to retire and let someone younger do the job."

Willoughby stresses with pride her family's roots of having grown up in Romulus, marrying and then returning to the city to raise their children.

Romulus School Board Vice President Betty Lenossi (and a good friend of Willoughby's) called the retired cook "a very loyal employee, who loved her job, took the job seriously and was always proud of what she did."

Lenossi added "she worked her way up to head cook and considered the kitchen her's. She will be missed by the school district, but will remain active in the Romulus Senior Citizens group."

Willoughby also is active at the Community United Methodist Church.

Upon her retirement, Willoughby was awarded a resolution by the school board for serving the "students, staff and community for 41 years with care, pride and dignity."

The resolution added "Willoughby "has worked with unchallenged virtue and dedication as expressed by letters of accomodation for outstanding work with the Wayne County School Board Association and the Teachers In Service Days."

She also was cited as a "dedicated school service employee" by the state's Department of Education.

Golfers memorialize Piscopink; donate to American Cancer fund

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Over 130 area golfers turned out recently to take part in a memorial golf outing for the late Tony Piscopink, a Wayne resident and co-owner of McNasty's Saloon in New Boston.

Mr. Piscopink died of cancer on Feb. 13 at the age of 40.

His mother, Bobbie, said "over 50 prizes were awarded at the golf outing dinner and I hope that this becomes an annual affair."

She called the golf outing

Tony Piscopink

and dinner "a beautiful tribute to Tony...he would have been deeply pleased."

Money from the outing has been donated to the American Cancer Society, his mother said.

Van Buren Reports

An attempted breaking and entering was reported on Landmark on July 24 at 12am.

Officers responded to a call regarding a loud party in Parkwood Manor on July 24. All was quiet by the time they left the area.

A grass fire had to be extinguished by the fire department on Beck Road.

An assault and battery report was made at the Lake-wood Shopping Center on July 24 at 12:50pm.

No arrests were made, although 5 people were busted for shoplifting at Meijer's at 1:17pm on July 24.

Police were called to break up a fight on Michigan Ave.

A caller revealed smoke coming from an apartment at Harbour Club on July 24.

Turned out to be a careless cook. Fans were set to remove the smoke.

Van Buren officers assisted the Belleville Police with a vehicle search at Huron River Drive and Harbour Pointe. They searched for narcotics. No further information was given at this time.

A caller from Bellridge Apartments stated that there was a fight at the location and threats were being made with a gun.

Officers arrived at the complex, no gun was found and none of the parties involved wished to make a report.

Someone heard what they thought was shots being fired in the Van Buren Park.

Police found someone lighting fireworks and advised them of the hazards.

A car was broken into at Town and Country on July 25 at 9:14am.

A homeowner on Vernon reported smelling natural gas at 11:05am on July 25.

Officers went to the location to find a pilot light problem.

This reporter had to be assisted by the Van Buren Police, as well as the Fire Department on July 25 at 11:50am.

My rental at Woodbury Green was flooding and it was coming from the place next door. My neighbor was not home to find out what the problem was. When I started hearing power surges, I decided it was time to call the police department for assistance.

Within 10 minutes, officers responded, saw the water pouring out the back of my neighbors place, as well as flooding in my living room and kitchen.

They then called on the fire department to help enter my neighbors place to find the supply line to a toilet had broke (evidently several days ago). Her place was completely flooded.

A medical emergency was responded to on July 25 at Lake Pointe Pass.

A resident in the area had been stung by an insect and had to be taken to the hospital for an allergic reaction.

Two grass fires had to be put out by the fire department on July 25.

The first was at 3:16pm at Belle Square. The next was at southbound I- 275 and Ecorse Road.

There was an emergency call from Southport Apartments reporting and apartment on fire on July 25 at 3:43pm.

The fire was extinguished by the fire department and my report states the fire was due to a careless cook.

A narcotics investigation was performed at Southport Apartments on July 25 at 4:35am. No drugs were found in the search.

A home alarm on Rawsonville Road went off on July 25 at 3:20pm.

Officers went to the home and found the location to be unsecured and waited for the homeowner to return.

Juveniles were cited for trespassing at a location on Haggerty Road in the early evening hours of July 25.

A property dispute had neighbors on Huron River Drive arguing to the point that officers had to be called to help settle the dispute on July 25 at 8:02pm.

Then, at 10:58pm, the same neighbors were disputing and one reported the other for reckless driving.

A domestic problem sent officers to a location in Kirkridge Park on July 25. The problem was resolved when officers arrived.

Binsfeld not the "Champion of Children"

To the editor:

LANSING, MI., July 13, 1998
"Lt. Gov. Connie Binsfeld, 74, has earned retirement at the end of the year because she's been an exceptional State Representative, State Senator and Lt. Governor, but she hasn't been 'The best champion of children Michigan ever had'.

Lt. Gov. Binsfeld, in fact, presided over the State of Michigan's dismantling of mental health care for children. In 1991, the Engler/Binsfeld Administration inherited one of the top ranked mental health programs for children in the country, and systematically destroyed it. Michiganders will be suffering the compounding consequences of Engler/Binsfeld's catastrophically unwise political 'leadership' for decades.

Michigan's Executive Branch of Government has eliminated the following resource facilities for families needing professional psychiatric care for their children:
1-Arnell Engstrom Psychiatric Hospital & School for Children, Traverse City, 1991.
2-Yorkwood Center for Children, Ypsilanti, 1991.
3-Psychiatric Program for Troubled Youth, Maxey Training School, Whitmore Lake, 1991.

4-Day Treatment Program for Emotionally Disturbed Children, Hawthorne Center, Northville, 1992.
5-Lafayette Psychiatric Clinic, Detroit, 1994.
6-State Mental Health Hospital, Coldwater, 1994.
7-Statewide $12 million program, Residential Placement for Mentally Ill Children, 1996.
8-Fairlawn Center, Michigan's national model hospital & school for mentally ill children, Pontiac, 1996.
9-Pheasant Ridge Center, Kalamazoo, 1997.

10-Detroit Psychiatric Hospital, 1997.

Hawthorne Center in Northville is today the only Michigan hospital and school available to parents statewide that has professionally trained staff capable of treating seriously mentally ill children.

Patients under 18 years of age are either dumped on the street, shipped off to untrained minimum wage staffed group homes as far away as the Upper Peninsula and Texas, or sent to prison.

The Engler/Binsfeld Administration sponsored legislation to charge children as young as 11 years of age as adult criminals. Parents of almost all children currently going through the "criminal justice system" document they were earlier refused help from state or county mental health authorities when they sought emergency treatment for their obviously mentally disturbed children. Recent studies conclude 25% of prisoners in Michigan were mentally ill when arrested. The Engler/Binsfeld solution is to build "Punk Prisons" to house untreated mentally ill children until they are 18 and can be transferred to other state prisons.

Lt. Gov. Binsfeld may be wonderful as depicted by Gov. Engler during his news conference late last Friday afternoon when nobody was in our State Capitol, but she is definitely not the 'Champion of Children'.

Not kidding

'Native son' Romulus picks ex-baseball star as its next head coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It didn't take Romulus long to find a head baseball coach. The administration this week made it official - Keith Brothers, a former -baseball standout, was named as the varsity baseball coach.

Brothers replaces popular veteran coach Don Foley, who resigned after the 1998 campaign to spend more time with his young family.

"Keith knows the program, and has been a part of it. In fact, he grew up playing baseball here," said Jesse Meriweather, Romulus High athletic director.

"We know that he (Brothers) will do an excellent job because he knows the sport and loves it. He's been with the program as a junior varsity coach for the past three or four years," said Meriweather.

Brothers, who graduated from Romulus in 1988, played for the coach, Dennis Stoh, and in the lineup of Foley's team as a senior.

As a pitcher-outfielder, the new coach was among the best on the high school scene in his time. He earned All-Area recognition and was also a candidate for All-State honors.

Brothers, who will be 28 next month, graduated from Olivet College. This will be his first varsity coaching job, however.

"It will be a challenging job," said Brothers, whose junior varsity squad posted a 5-1 record in the Mega Gold Division a year ago. "We have some outstanding talent on the junior varsity level which should be a great help to us next season."

"I am very excited about our prospects," Brothers added. "This is a great opportunity."

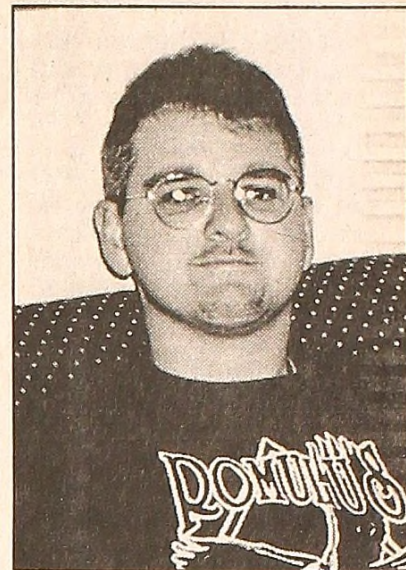

A lifelong resident of Romulus, Brothers, and his wife, Lisa, reside in the city.

The young coach is rounding out his coaching staff which is incomplete at this time.

Brothers said that one of the problems Romulus ball clubs have had in the past is that they have not participated in summer leagues. He hopes to correct that, he says.

"Next summer I am going to see if we can get into a Little Caesar's League," Brothers said. "We need to set up a system where the kids can get training all summer long."

Heights' women golfers set pace

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

This hot and humid weather will do just fine for Lillian Vandenbroeker and Helen Demshuk.

The two Dearborn Heights women, competing in the Women's Suburban Golf Association league last week, emerged with the winning scores for their respective flights at the Brae Burn Country Golf Course.

Vandenbroeker shot an 81 to beat Northville's Carolyn Benninger by four strokes to claim the First Flight, Low Gross honors for the week.

It was the first time this season that Vandenbroeker strolled off the course as medalist for the flight.

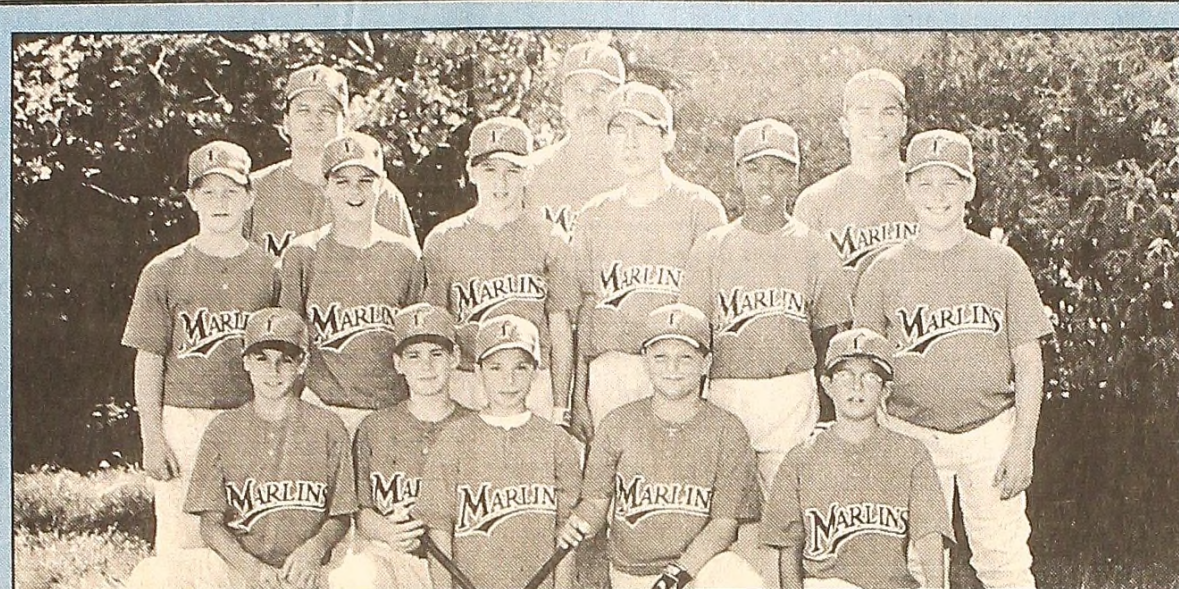

Benninger, who carded an 85, is usually the pack leader.

In the meantime, the race for the Low Net honors wound up in a two-way tie as Pat Meyers and Dolly Vettese each turned in with two-under-par for the course 70s.

Close behind the flight leaders were Dearborn's Mary Gene Stefanac and Rochester Hills' Sandy Rivers who toured the course with 71s.

Demshuk had an eight-stroke edge over her closest competitor in the Second Flight. The Dearborn Heights golfer shot a 92 and finished atop of the flight. Westlander Penny Irwin was runner-up with a 100.

Livonia's Dorothy Cortes and Mary Ann Kraft had sizzling rounds of 69s. They also finished in a first-place tie for the Second Flight's top score.

Bronco League tri-champions

The Marlins, under the managerial acuity of Joe Wilson, finished 10-2 on the season and in a three-way tie for first place in the Westland Youth Athletic Association's Bronco Division. The division is open to players ages 11-12. Members of the team include Tim Bingham (from left to right, front row), Kevin Maskelis, Kevin Ramos, David Somerville and Darryl Rice; In the middle row are Chad Harrison, Vinnie DeLuca, Brad Wilson, Alan Brent, Dominique Fischer, and David Pitter; In the third row are Coach Todd DeLuca, Coach Rick Bingham and Manager Wilson.

Tryouts on August 13 Is this the year of Rockets in golf?

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Is there a high school student in this area - or anywhere - who is looking forward to the sounds of those school bells? Doubt it very much.

But the sound is definitely in the air, especially for Westland John Glenn students who plan to compete on the Rocket golf squad this fall. And what a golf team Glenn is expecting to have, according to area coaches who believe that Glenn will be the team to beat in the Western Suburban Athletic Conference this year.

But, more on that in the near future.

For now, the Glenn coach wants prospective players to know that tryouts are scheduled for 12:30 p.m. on Aug. 13 at the Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The golf course is located north of Michigan Avenue, on Lotz Road in Canton Township, just east of the I-275 Expressway.

Coach Dan Burtka says that golfers who need further information may contact him at (734)-981-1752.

In the meantime, if you're an athletic director who is stuck with a 12-month position and are hanging around the office with nothing to do, how about "FAXing" or mailing those 1998 Fall Schedules to the Michigan Community Newspapers' Sports Desk.

The FAX number at MCN is (734)-729-6088. The MCN's Sports Desk can be reached by dialing (734)-729-4000. Please mail schedules to: Michigan Community Newspapers, C/O Sports Desk, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184.

Incidentally, John Glenn's AD should disregard the above mentioned remarks. As he knows, he mailed the 1998-99 schedules right after the end of the recent school year.

Did we forget to mention that if the school has hired a new head coach for any one of the fall sports, please include their telephone number on the schedule so that we can contact them during the season.

Wayne's Wolves win Kiwanis Classic title

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Baseball manager Bill Hardin could not have asked for a better way to end the 1998 season.

Hardin and the Wolves captured the Kiwanis Classic Tournament Title in competition staged last week in St. Clair Shores.

The Waco Wolves, a 10 and under ball club, posted a 5-1 record in winning the tournament championship.

"We had a good tournament," Hardin noted. "The kids played well, and we're proud of them."

The Wolves buried the Tecumseh, Ontario, team, 15-0, to warm up for the tournament; then went on to humiliate Windsor, 21-0. Their third opponent also posed no problem as Hardin's Wolves turned back Clio 16-1 to carry a three-game winning streak up against a worthy opponent, Toledo.

The champs combined outstanding pitching performances with a tenacious defense to post a 4-0 shutout over the Toledo team. That tri-

It's Saginaw Valley State for Shreve

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Saginaw Valley State University is the next stop for a former Romulus High and St. Aquinas High School football star.

Waynard L. Shreve III, a local talent who played for the Romulus Eagles before he moved on to Aquinas, will be wearing a Saginaw Valley State football uniform when the season opens next month.

Shreve, who graduated from the Southgate-based Catholic High School in May of 1997 after leading his team to the state finals, earned All-State recognition in his senior year.

Aquinas reached the state quarterfinals before the downriver power was ousted in the post-season play.

The outstanding athlete-scholar is the son of Waynard and Cheryl Shreve Jr., who make their home in Romulus.

Waynard's family and friends will be taking 1-75 to the university this fall to watch their favorite player play, the Shreves said.

WYAA is seeking football talent

With the regular and playoff season baseball champs crowned, the Westland Youth Athletic Association has turned its attention to the upcoming football season.

WYAA officials have traditionally fielded three teams - freshmen, junior varsity and varsity for both its Comets and Meteors' organizations. This season the tradition will continue, WYAA officials said.

"We have received some response during our initial media blitz for players," said Keith DeMolay, who serves as WYAA publicist. "We don't want any players left out, so we are requesting again that they sign up before the season begins."

DeMolay stressed that a player will be assigned to a team that is in his age and weight class.

Players are asked to register at the usual registration center, the Lange Compound, located at 6050 Farmington Road. Officials will be on hand to register prospective players from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays and from 10 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

There is a $70 registration fee. There is also a stipulation that must be met by the player during the season; he must help in the organization's fundraiser.

Both the Meteors and the Comets have an 8-game schedule and both teams compete in the Western Suburban Junior Football League.

WYAA is also looking for young ladies to be a part of the organization as cheerleaders. If you believe you can help the team spirit, contact the WYAA at 722-1251 or the Lange Compound at 734-421-0640.

The 1998 Western Suburban Junior Football League will begin action the weekend of Sept. 12-13.

Hall of Fame inductees

Three veterans of the softball diamonds are the latest inductees into the prestigious Leonard J. Anderson Invitational Hall of Fame. The newest inductees are Wade Evans (above from left), David Gibson and Kevin Niemiec, who are members of the Central Distributors Beer, Inc. team. The announcement was made by Larry Quartuccio, who is the architect of the tournament that honors the memory of Patrolman Anderson. Anderson is the only police officer to be slain in the line of duty in the city of Wayne.

If you're a manager, this one is for you!

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

If you're a manager of a softball team and are looking for some action this fall to keep your players in shape, look to the city of Romulus and the parks and recreation department for the answers to your problems.

Recreation officials this week announced that they are organizing a fall softball league and are inviting team managers to contact them.

There are openings for at least eight teams, which will play a minimum of eight games each, for a Friday Night Men's Doubleheader League.

Also on the drawing board are plans for a Sunday Afternoon Men's Doubleheader League, which will include 10 teams and 10 games per season.

At the end of the regular season schedule, recreation officials plan to hold a two-game elimination tournament so that if you don't win the regular season title, your team may have a shot at the playoff championship.

Entry fees include balls and will help pay the bill for hiring umpires, scorekeepers and trophies.

There is a $300 entry fee. Registration in ongoing but will close on Aug. 21. The Friday League will begin competition on Aug. 28, while the Sunday League starts on Aug. 30.

Any questions? Contact the recreation department at (734) 942-6852.

From the dugout

By Alan Waltz
MCN Special Writer

To go or not to go to college? That is a question many top-notch high school athletes are faced with early in their careers.

And they, and their parents, have been debating that issue since the dawn of those multi-million dollar contracts.

I have been receiving a lot of phone calls from young boys about baseball, and their careers, and I also have been on the sidelines of the diamonds watching some very talented young players - believe me, these players can make it if they continue to work hard, study hard and keep focused.

But, I will address the question of concentration and careers at a later date. Right now, let's get to the first question:

Question 1: I am a pitcher and I seem to get wild some times. How to I correct that? I can't throw strikes and I also walk a lot of batters. Is there any hope for me?

Waltz: First of all, son, that is not one... but several questions. But, let's see if I can help. Hall of Famer Hal Newhouser of the Detroit Tigers

(his career was at its peak in the 1940s) says in his book Pitching to Win that you should stand on the right side of the rubber if you are righthanded or left side if you are a left-handed thrower. This will give you a better angle to hit the outside corner.

Also, on your follow through, point your front toward the middle of home plate. If your front foot points to the left of home plate your pitch will go outside. If it points to the right side of home plate, your pitch will be inside.

Also, bend your back to get maximum speed on the fast-ball or any other pitch. You must "bend your back"... Tiger pitchers currently who don't do this are Mohler, Castillo...and, if you don't bend your back your pitches will be high. Just what the major leaguers like - a high fastball which usually ends up in the upper deck somewhere.

Next question, please.

Question 2: Why do I get tired early in the game? I am a pitcher.

Waltz: N. Y. Yankees pitcher Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds, Cleveland pitchers E. Wynn and Bob Lemon said the key to being a great pitcher in their words are: Run. Run. Run.

Running will definitely build your leg strength and keep you in the game even if your arm tires. You don't want a relief pitcher coming in and losing a game for you, and you and I know that some teams die because of their bench.

So, when your arm gets tired, if you have strong legs, you may be able to gut it out.

My advice is to run. Ride a bike five miles a day. Oh, by the way if you're going to run, run on grass and not cement because, according to what I hear from the pros, you may wind up with arthritic knees if you're a cement runner. And, believe me, I really haven't seen a lot of players who can maintain their pro careers with weak knees.

Am I done for the week?

Nope, here's one more for you, Al.

Question 3: How would you pitch to Mark McGuire?

Waltz: With a lot of prayers. No, seriously, he is one heck of a ball player, and they come once in our lifetime, but I would suggest throwing a lot of curveballs at this slugger. And, if that doesn't work. Walk him.

Without them, amateur athletics would probably come to a standstill, but thanks to the sponsors, amateur teams can suit up and "Play Ball". In the photo above, Westland's Jimmies/Varsity Athletics/Que's Sports nationally-ranked softball club displays the Sponsor's Pennant, awarded to the second-place team at the Kiracofe Invitational Tournament staged recently in Kalamazoo. Displaying the awar are Randy Windham (from left), Dan McGinnis, Larry Quartuccio, who is the club's manager, and Jimmie Pattison.

Wolves

umph moved them into position to claim the title.

However, a strong and able Midland was ready for them. Midland momentarily de-toured the Wolves, 3-2, which forced the two rivals to go into a two-game playoff series.

Hardin and the Wolves re-gained their poise and whipped the only team that beat them in the tournament, 15-0, to force a third and final game. In that one, too, the Wolves kept their poise and pulled out a big 8-1 victory that clinched the championship.

Hardin's Wolves play out of the Little Caesar's League and posted an incredible 40-16 overall record on the year.

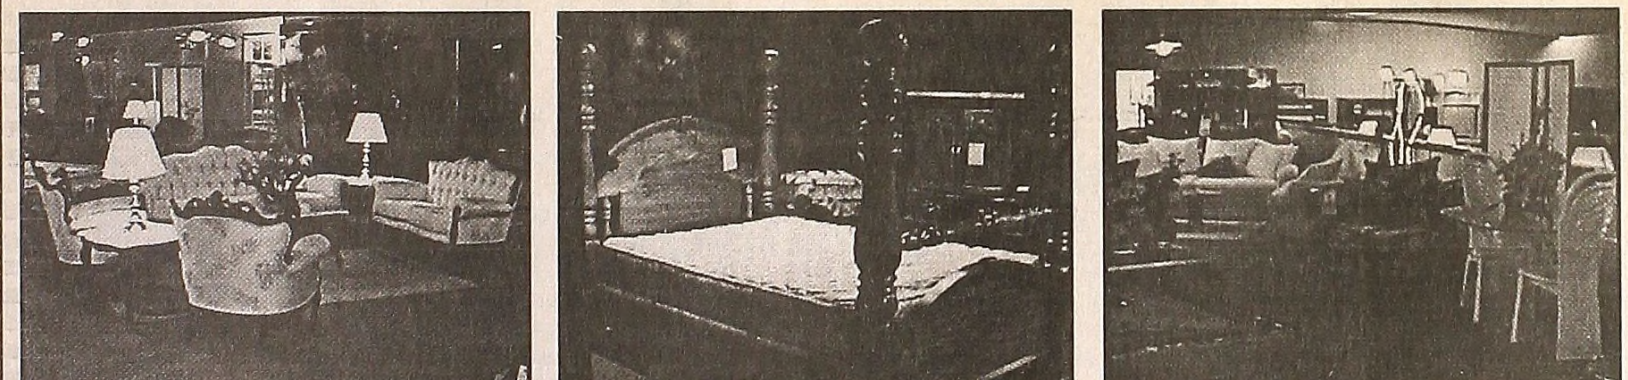

The Wolves also finished in the top three spots in all of their tournaments this year, which included appearances in Sylvania, Ohio; Coopertown, New York, and Sterling Heights.

By the way, the Wolves will be holding tryouts for next year's squad, and if you're interested you should contact coach Hardin at 313-562- 4667.

Hardin also manages a 12 and under ball club.

When you knock 10 balls over the fence, you'd think they would give you credit. Well, they did. Jason Broyles (center) of Plumbers and Pipefitters No. 388 captured the home run hitting competition during the 22nd annual Leonard Anderson Invitation and he was presented the Home Run King Trophy by Anderson's son, Greg, and his daughter, Tracy, during a special ceremony. Patrolman Anderson was killed in the line of duty,

Isuzu Trooper is slow, overpriced, uncomfortable

By KAREN STRONSKI
MCN Staff Writer

The Isuzu Trooper, what can I say about it? Well, I wish it were the Infiniti QX4, and for good reason. You can get a whole lot more 4x4 sport-ute for your buck. The price is just about the same, however, there is a world of difference in these two vehicles. The only similarities are that they are both sport utility vehicles.

For the same amount of money, in the Infiniti, you get leather six-way power seats, a sunroof, a Bose stereo system, a rear hatch that allows easy access for just about anything you want to carry, the Home-Link system, (which allows you to program garage door opener, and lights in your home) two tone paint, leather wrapped wheel and shifter, and the list goes on and on.

I know that this column is supposed to be about the Trooper, and it is. Needless to say, it should be pro-bono for the Infiniti. Even the acceleration in the Infiniti (both are V6) is better. Not to mention more stylish and better gas mileage.

Enough about the Infiniti though, the Trooper is overpriced, and the seating is not power or comfortable. It felt like I was sitting on bags of sand. One good thing is that the head and leg room was ample. And the stereo was satisfactory.

The rear gate did not allow easy access because it was a door rather than a lift-gate. It did not extend the full of the vehicle, which made large objects hard to maneuver. Not only that, you had to hit a little lever to get the thing to close, and if you have your arms full of groceries or whatever, you'd have to set them down just to close the door.

Acceleration was at a minimum. It took what seemed like forever just to get up to a normal cruising speed. And merging on the highway was a bit tricky. When looking at the exterior of this one either, you notice that it looks a little bit like the Land Rover Discovery (which I didn't like either). In my opinion, the Trooper looks boxy. Not at all with the sport-ute styling of today.

While in the interior, I did like the way all of the gadgets were laid out. Everything is where it should be, it even had a cup holder for an extra large beverage. The seats were very plain, as well as uncomfortable. The dash was all plastic. Now compare that to all of the leather appointments in the Infiniti. Keep in mind that they are basically the same price.

One other thing that I did like (and there are few) the spare tire on the back of the truck gave it an air of sportiness. The Infiniti's is mounted underneath the vehicle. Both are 4x4's that have to be engaged manually.

Another good attribute that the Trooper has, it can turn on a dime. The turning radius is great, and can get you out of a tight parking space with minimal problems. Even better than the Infiniti.

Just about every option on the QX4 comes standard, except for heated seats. Not true with the Trooper. If you want a more affordable version of the Infiniti, check out its sister sport-ute, the Nissan Pathfinder it is almost identical to the QX4, with a lesser price tag.

Gas mileage on the Trooper

is 15 miles per gallon in the city and 19 miles per gallon on the highway. The QX4 gets 19 miles per gallon in the city and 24 on the highway. Price, well, base for the Trooper is $28,000 and $31,167, and for the QX4, $32,120 LOADED! You make the choice!
